FIRST DAY AT THE BEACH.

NOTHING BUT ORDINARY PURSES, BUT HORSES IN PLENTY AND GOOD RACING.

Empire City Program To Be Run at Brighton Beach
—Belmont Park Stakes Not To Be Reduced
—Fore Receives Unexpected Treat.

New York, July 7.—A somewhat staid opening day of the Brighton Beach Association's summer meeting was observed at the popular course this afternoon. Still the crowd was gratifyingly large, approximately 8,000, for the moderate card, unrelieved by rich stake features. After the races President Fitzgerald expressed himself as very well satisfied with the first day's results, and intimated that next week's program would be a big improvement over the inaugural one. Unfortunately, a number of race-goers were deterred from journeying to the track by the blistering heat and an overcast sky at noon, which culminated in a driving thunderstorm at the most inopportune time. The track was not greatly affected by the rain, and mud runners were only moderately well served by the going. As at Sheepshead, no one seemed to care for the betting ring, and it was deserted. Instead of the great, green grass lawns of the parklike Bay course, the crowd had to congregate on the sloping and unsheltered brick area in front of the grandstand and betting ring.

The racing was excellent and was participated in by many useful horses. Form players had a bad session, which is not unusual for a first day at Brighton Beach. Only one favorite, at odds-on, Edward, repaid the confidence of his backers, outsiders, beginning with Altuda at 15 to 1, and ending with Tom McGrath at 6 to 1, and finishing with Tom McGrath at 6 to 1. From a spectacular standpoint the two-year-olds' struggle at five and a half furlongs, in which Edward, Watervliet and Merry Gift finished heads apart, after thrilling contention through the stretch, and the steeplechase of doubtful issue for nearly two miles, and finally won by Rocket, after a long and hard race, were the features of the day. Waterspeed's jockey had been unseated and miraculously recovered right under the eyes of the spectators in time to get up and save second place, were the outstanding features of the afternoon's racing.

Some of the incidents freely commented upon by the experts were Golden Pearl's slowness in getting away from the post in his last two races, the fast Golden Garter colt having been virtually left at the post; Don Enrique's waterlogged way of running as an odds-on favorite; Enfield's evident lack of condition and Tom McGrath's sudden improvement over his preceding races.

Good stable authority says that Fayette, the widely advertised two-year-old for which Madden refused an offer of $40,000 just before the running of the Great Trial Stakes in which he was beaten and on top of that suffered another bad defeat in the last half of the Double Event, has all along been handicapped by a bad case of bucked shins.

Two arrests for alleged violation of the anti-betting law were made in the field enclosure during the afternoon. One of the arrested men gave his name as Lennon.

The management of the Empire City Association of Yonkers have definitely decided to transfer their meeting in August to Brighton Beach, where, with the sanction of the Jockey Club, all their valuable stakes will be run off.

Big Chief was erroneously sent out yesterday as the lone entry in the fourth race. The race was declared off under the rules, which expressly stipulate that three horses in three or more different interests must be named for an overnight race and these conditions were not complied with in this instance.

Assistant secretary Earlocker of the Saratoga Association stated at Brighton Beach today that the eleven-day meeting at the Spa in August will surely be extended and the whole quota of days allotted them by the Jockey Club schedule may be run off.

It was also officially announced that all of the stakes advertised at the coming fall meeting at Belmont Park will be decided at their full value.

The owner of the filly Fore, an entry in the sixth race, was forced to withdraw her from the race because he could not locate her. She had been sent over from Sheepshead Bay in plenty of time for the race, but got lost on the way. When discovered she was contentedly nibbling grass on the boulevard with her attendant fast asleep.

The officials of the Charter Oak trotting park of Hartford, Conn., have announced that they will provide a new feature in their August meeting in the shape of a race for thoroughbreds to be named the Connecticut Derby.

H. R. Brandt acquired the good two-year-old, Harrigan, from J. E. Madden during the morning. The reported price was $2,500.

Colin showed to advantage while at exercise this morning.

Acting District Attorney Elder today began his inquisition before the Kings County grand jury into the relations of the Jockey Club and the racing associations to the bookmakers. Many witnesses were called to describe conditions at the Sheepshead Bay track. It is said that forty-three subpoenas were issued, which it was Elder's intention to serve on racing men at the track today to appear before the grand jury as witnesses. None was served, however.

NEALON AND CHARLES EDWARD TO RACE.

New York, July 7.—Nealon, the handican horse which W. Du Bois bought from Schreiber & Dunnell and last season's winner of the Suburban, Twin City and Municipal Handicaps, will soon be racing again.

The son of Sain trained well early in the year, but he got a setback at Gravesend in June which has kept him in his stable when the great races for which he was eligible were run.

That he has recovered his form, however, is evident from the fact that he is galloping daily. He stepped half a mile in 52 seconds yesterday. Nealon looks none the worse for his retirement, and the trainers at Gravesend predict that he will be hard to beat in the fall in the great distance races. It is for the distance races that Frank Taylor is pointing him.

Taylor expects to have Charles Edward ready for a first-class effort at Brighton, the scene of his brilliant triumphs last season. Charles Edward has a strong liking for the light going at the beach. It was at Brighton last summer that he made his new records of 1:50 2/5 and 2:30 2/5 for one mile and a furlong and one mile and a half in the Seagate Stakes and Brighton Derby.

BENNING MAY RACE IN THE FALL.

It is rumored in New York that there will be a fall meeting at Benning and that speculation could be carried on under the present system in vogue at the Jockey Club tracks—oral bets, with settlements after each race and no records.

WAS THE LATONIA MEETING A LOSER?

Conservative Figures Point to a Different Conclusion
—Bookmaking and Mutuels Compared.

Racing organizations rarely take the public into their confidence in respect to their receipts. The disbursements, so far as stakes and purses are concerned, are open to any one who cares to take the trouble to compile them. The daily inside expenses of conducting a meeting, the sums paid to officials, ticket sellers, clerks, special police, track men and other employees is a matter of which only the officials who keep the accounts can have accurate knowledge. But any one reasonably well versed in the ways of race tracks can approximate the cost of this by no means inconsiderable matter.

Up to and including July 6, the present meeting of the Latonia Jockey Club had covered thirty days of racing. This was the length of the summer meeting of 1907. In the course of this number of days the club has disbursed $11,500 in added money to stakes and $80,050 in purses, making a total of $91,550 divided among the horsemen. If, then, an allowance of $1,000 per diem for other expenses is made, which would be a very liberal allowance, the gross outlay of the Latonia Jockey Club for its present meeting would be the sum of $121,550 for the thirty days.

In the same period the club took in as percentage returns from the sale of pari-mutuel tickets the sum of $74,632.50. Averaging the sales of auction pools at $7,500 per day, it took in $11,250 more in percentages from this source, the sum named being below the true mark. What the bar privilege brings in at Latonia is not a matter of public knowledge, but allowing for the modest return of $300 per day from the bar and other minor sources of income, $9,000 more accrues to the club. Taking the aggregate of these sums from the total outlay there is a deficit of, in round numbers, $26,500. Is it possible that in thirty days of racing the Latonia Jockey Club has not taken in that amount, and more, in gate receipts? If it has not it has been fully justified in going out of business.

In the face of the figures here presented the suggestion of a loss of $20,000 to date seems monstrous and the general course of the club is indeed a mysterious affair. Among other things involved is a brutally unsportsmanlike indifference to the welfare of the horsemen gathered at Latonia.

There is one point that should be understood. From the start there has been a deliberate and persistent effort to discredit the mutual system of betting as compared with bookmaking. Yet the Latonia Jockey Club has derived a much greater income from the mutuels this year than it did from the books last year. That much is a certainty. Here is a table giving the number of books on daily last year, the income derived, at $100 per diem, from each book, and the daily income from the mutuels of this year:

THIRTY LEADING JOCKEYS.

Notter, at Sheepshead Bay, and V. Powers, at Latonia, scored the honors last week, riding nine winners each, while C. H. Shilling, at Windsor and E. The standing of the thirty leading jockeys from January 1, to and including the racing of July 6, their percentages and races won the past week, are as follows:

SIGNORINETTA BEATEN BY THREE HORSES.

At Newbury, Eng., June 25, Signorinetta, the Derby and Oaks heroine, was beaten by three horses for the $7,500 Royal Stakes at one and one-quarter miles. Signorinetta, 3, 120, shared favoritism at 13 to 8 with W. Hall Walker's White Eagle, 3, 125, by Gallinule-Merry Gal, which won by a head from W. B. Cloete's Quercus, 3, 100, with W. Clark's Linacre, 4, 127, third a long length before Signorinetta. It was a peculiarly run race and not at all to the liking of the filly. For almost the first mile the pace was dreadfully slow and then it became just the opposite. Chevalier Ginstrell's filly prefers to be going all the time and the tactics saw her beaten out of a place. All the English critics seem to agree that W. Bullock, who rode her in the Derby and Oaks, blundered with Signorinetta, which should have made the pace instead of waiting for it.

WINDSOR RACING NOT UP TO THE STANDARD.

Ordinary Horses Mainly Provided For—Polly Prim Takes the Leading Feature.

Detroit, Mich., July 7.—An ordinary card produced ordinary sport at Windsor this afternoon. The program was in the main made up of cheap selling races and the racing was in keeping. Favorites managed to win two of the races, the successful choices being Simcoe and Polly Prim. Both won their races in easy fashion, the former leading his opponents from end to end, while Polly Prim drew away into an easy lead in the stretch after racing in close company with Uncle Toby. A couple of favorites were beaten through poor rides. Dennis Stafford was easily best in his race and lost only through incompetent riding by Francis. This lad is an apprentice that Frank O'Neill brought up from New York. Dennis Stafford was heavily backed by O'Neill and his friends. Francis got him all but left at the post and then rushed him up on the outside and opened a big lead on the far turn. In the stretch he became rattled and when Petulant challenged let go his horse's head and floundered about in the saddle. The result was that Dennis Stafford tired and Petulant got up and beat him in the closing strides. O'Neill was so put out with Francis' exhibition that he told the boy he would have to confine his riding to exercising until he became more competent.

Jockey Eddie Walsh's efforts to get Simcoe away first from the post in the fifth race led to his suspension for ten days by the starter.

Another rider came in for official censure, Delahy, who had the mount on Uncle Toby in the handicap, being suspended for the remainder of the week for rough riding. When entering the home stretch, where Polly Prim made her effort, Delahy carried her to the outside fence, but the mare was good enough to come on and easily dispose of Uncle Toby in the stretch.

Young Bergen was in good form. He had five mounts, won with three and finished third on another.

The two-year-old, Advancing, bled in her race and was pulled up.

While being exercised this morning Mose Goldblatt's Alsatian broke down and was disposed of to Nugent Bros. of St. Louis for $50. Barney Schreiber wired Dave Henry at Latonia to ship the horses he is training for him there to Port Erie. Schreiber reports that all the horses at his farm are in good health and that his famous stallion, Sain, was bred to thirty-five mares this season. This is ten more than he served last year. Thirty-two of the mares that Sain served are the property of Schreiber, the other three being Ora Bailey, the dam of Sowell and the property of Milton Young; an imported French mare, the property of J. E. Widener, and a mare owned by Rome Respass.

ENGLISH HORSE MAKES NEW RECORD.

Spatie, a Five-Year-Old, Runs One and One-Half Miles in 2:29 Over Newbury Course.

Mr. C. Doud's five-year-old chestnut horse Spatie, by The Rush—Chemistry, June 25, at Newbury, England, won the Newbury Summer Cup of $6,250 at one and one-half miles, in 2:29—a new record for England. Spatie was ridden by W. Saxby and carried 109 pounds.

The American record for the distance, which has stood for ten years, is the 2:30 of Goodrich, which at Washington Park, July 16, 1898, in the race for the Great Western Handicap, beat What-er-lou, 109; Morte Fosse, 108; Bing Ringer, 99, and Candelaria, 104. Goodrich carried 102 pounds, was a three-year-old by Patron—Edith Gray, owned by W. H. Laudeman, and was at 6 to 1 in the betting. Tommy Burns rode Goodrich in the race.

Of Spatie, his race and the record, the London Sportsman says: "Spatie, in winning the Newbury Cup over a mile and a half in 2:29, created a record for that distance. The previous best time was by Airship, in the Manchester Cup, June, 1905, the time then being 2:30 1/2. Other fast times over the distance had been accomplished by Roseburn, 2:30 1/2; Avidity, 2:30 1/2; Santol, 2:31. When Bend Or won the Gold Cup at Epsom he took 2:40 to cover the mile and a half."

The Sporting Life says of the performance: "Of course, Spatie, apart from his light weight, had everything in his favor, for the going was fast and the atmosphere ideal. Newbury, however, is hardly the venue where one would have looked for a feat of this sort, because it has always been regarded as a severe course."

Behind Spatie in the race were two good racehorses in Wuffy and All Black. Danny Maher having the mount on the latter. Spatie was at 10 to 3 in the betting, won easily by two lengths and was a trailer until a furlong from the finish.

ELDER TO TAKE CASES TO GRAND JURY.

New York, July 7.—It is known that acting District Attorney Elder of Kings county is preparing to lay before the grand jury on Wednesday a complaint that the race track management is receiving $12 a day from each bookmaker at the course for betting privileges. Mr. Elder is expected to submit to the jury evidence in support of his contention and it is expected that J. G. Cavanaugh, who was manager of the old betting ring, will be subpoenaed to testify. It is the contention of the bookmakers that they pay $12 for advance information of jockeys, scratches and added starters of each race, but Mr. Elder asserts this is only a subterfuge.

BREEDER HANCOCK'S IDEA OF IT.

The well-known breeder, R. J. Hancock, of Charlottesville, Va., writes to the Thoroughbred Record: "I am not thunderstruck over Hughes' bill, but rather I think it will prove a blessing to the small, but refined, breeder. The business was greatly overdone. The Americans should now follow the English example and cut down their studs to thirty broodmares and have them the cream of the Stud Book. We should then give the bulk of the money to the three-year-olds and not allow two-year-olds to run more than six or eight races that year."

"CURLEY" BROWN AT WORK IN SAVANNAH.

Reports from Savannah, Ga., are to the effect that D. (Curley) Brown, of the great west, New Orleans and Cincinnati, is in the Georgia town plotting a race track at which to hold winter racing that was formerly held in New Orleans. His project is to build a track, according to the Savannah papers, and hold two or three weeks of racing the first year and more as the need arises.

DEATH OF JOHN G. HECKSCHER.

New York, July 7.—The Jockey Club has lost another distinguished member by the death of John G. Heckscher Sunday. He was seventy-three years old and one of the old New York aristocracy. Mr. Heckscher was one of the founders of the Jockey Club. He was also interested in the Coney Island Jockey Club and helped to make that organization what it is today. He was a director at the time of his death.

LATONIA MEETING CLOSES.

EFFORTS OF HORSEMEN TO PROVIDE FOR CONTINUING THE SPORT PROVE UNAVAILING.

Much Indignation Over the Action of the Club Officials—Last Day's Racing Attractive—Olambala To Be Sent East.

Cincinnati, O., July 7.—Latonia racing, after lasting thirty-one days, and with ten more days allotted by the Kentucky Racing Commission, came to a sudden termination today, after an abrupt announcement of the jockey club's directors of a discontinuance, claiming that to prolong the meeting here would entail additional losses. This decision of the club came as a surprise to the majority of the horsemen, who immediately set about devising means and plans to continue. They at once began a number of informal conferences and by race time a general rumor was current that they would be successful in leasing the track and running the meeting up to July 18.

At the conferences of the horsemen it was decided to go along with the meeting if they could secure a lease of the track from the management. The horsemen who constituted themselves as head of affairs were William Gerst, T. P. Hayes and George Holle. Their intention was to maintain the meeting on the following lines: That current running expenses were to be deducted from the gate receipts, mutuel and auction pool percentages, the remainder to go to one general pool and be prorated as purse money for six daily races. The winners were to receive seventy-five per cent, second fifteen and thirds ten. The above three gentlemen, representing the horsemen, held a conference in the afternoon with the club management, but met with no success on account of certain conditions that could not be overcome. The principal ones were that the deputation refused to furnish a bond that would insure the association from losses and also to insure the horsemen the payment of purses and the liquidation of general expenses. As these conditions could not be acceded to negotiations fell through and the closing race witnessed the shut-down of this plant for its term of spring and summer racing, and possibly for the present year.

CHARLEY McCAFFERTY GETS IN TROUBLE.

Seattle, Wash., July 7.—Charles C. McCafferty, widely known among horsemen as the owner of the Burns Handicap winner, Dr. Leggo, was today indefinitely suspended and was ordered to forthwith remove his stable of horse from the Meadows because he assaulted bookmaker George Linden with his pocket knife during a dispute over a $5 bet he had made in Linden's book. After the first race McCafferty presented a ticket on Mintia, claiming that he told the money taker he wanted to bet on Al Lindley, winner of the race. Linden refused to allow his claim and McCafferty, after some hot words had passed, drew his knife and slashed twice at the bookmaker.

The knife cut Linden's clothing in several places and, penetrating to the skin, inflicted trivial flesh wounds. Bystanders immediately interfered and the track authorities ejected McCafferty from the grounds with a warning to never again return. McCafferty has figured in personal encounters on other tracks and it probably will be a long time before his suspension is lifted, if at all.

The racing today continued formful and favorites accounted for half the card.
Barney Oldfield scored his fifth consecutive victory since the opening of the meeting, defeating with ease the best horses that he had yet encountered and demonstrating beyond cavil that he can cover a long route as well as sprint. Nonie, at 20 to 1, was the single surprise. Jockey C. Sullivan has been ordered to take no more mounts because of a suspicious looking ride on Lady Kitty yesterday.

BETTING COMPLICATIONS IN NEW YORK.

Oral Wagers Give the Active Authorities Little or No Chance for a Case.

New York, July 7.—There is no reason to doubt that the confidence of the public in racing is as strong as ever. The splendid crowd at the Sheepshead Bay track last Saturday proved conclusively that the turf still has a firm hold on thousands of men and women. The privilege of any man to make an oral bet with some friend or acquaintance without fear of being arrested, as set forth in Justice Bischoff's opinion in the Collins case, has served to dispel fear on the part of many former patrons, who are now coming back to the track in large numbers. Like everything new, the credit system of doing business on the races seems decidedly odd and difficult, but in the course of time it is believed that the public will become accustomed to the system and will be well protected, too.

If, as Justice Bischoff says, it is legal to make an oral wager and pay after the race, there is nothing to prevent persons establishing credit with a layer away from the track. In that way wagering would be impossible, while nobody could overplay himself "on the nod." A man could play up to the limit of his credit, but no longer. There is no trouble about the betting end of the problem at all. So long as a better does not hand cash wagers to a layer when he makes his selection, he is within the law, and according to the police he cannot be arrested.

Neither can a layer be taken into custody if he accepts these verbal wagers and makes no record of the same. There is no violation of the law, say the police, if he keeps a record of these bets in his head or tells them to some friends who have excellent memories.

If these friends see fit to repeat the transactions to other friends, how can anybody prove that records of the wagers have been made? And if such proof can be obtained how can it be legally shown that there is a connection between the man who records a wager on his program and the man who accepted the bet in the first place? said a police officer yesterday in discussing the case.

"We know that the vital point in the new betting law is the recording of wagers, and we have accepted several men at the track within the last few days for making memorandums. But we have got to go slow. The police department cannot arrest every man who is seen writing figures and words on his program because if he can prove his innocence he can bring suit for false arrest. It is a hard problem to solve, but we intend to exercise all the vigilance possible."

The "proof of connection" between the layer and a recorder of wagers is the point on which all the future test cases will hinge. It is contended that because a man writes down "King James, twenty to five, John Jones," proof is lacking that a wager has been recorded. Other legal experts say that if oral bets are legal, according to Justice Bischoff's decision, a record of such transactions will stand first.

Meanwhile it is safe to say that in order to prevent the private memorandums made by speculators it would require the presence of more policemen and detectives than spectators. Last Saturday a sporting man stood on the lawn surrounded by a half dozen friends. Somebody would push his way through the crowd and whisper in the sporting man's ear. The latter would either nod or shake his head in the negative. If it was a nod, the sporting man quickly whispered to another man at his elbow, who walked away. The latter did not write anything on his program, but met a third man to whom he said a few words. The third man was lost in the crowd. Did he record the wager? If he did it was done so cleverly that nobody could detect him in the act. And that was the way the sporting man made oral bets with his friends. No money was posted with him, he displayed no odds and his conversation with customers was strictly private.

As no wagers have been paid at the track at all, it is inferred that settlements are made away from the track. As far as the display of prices on the program is concerned, it is said that the race track men intend to have a test case soon to determine that point.

Winner—Ch. c. by Toddington—Luckless (trained by G. W. Graydon).
Went to post at 4:37. At post 8 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Simcoe began fast and dashed away from his opponents in the first furlong, set the pace all the way and was under restraint through the stretch. Celemonius came through on the inside after entering the home stretch and, finishing with a great burst of speed, outgained Pearl Point. The latter moved up gamely on the far turn, but tired in the last sixteenth. Christmas was very frantically at the post, but showed speed in the race and was tiring at the end. Seattle showed speed and probably was short.
Scratched—75862 Tapioca, 98; 75862 Miss Alvecot, 97; 75878 Hawklight, 102.

Winner—Ch. c. by St. Simonian II—Thistlefinch (trained by P. Kernell).
Went to post at 5:06. At post 4 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Dunvegan went around on the outside with a rush on the turn into the backstretch, caught and passed Missouri Lad and, drawing away into a commanding lead, was only outgained at the end. Missouri Lad ran gamely, but lacked the speed he displayed in his previous races. Brummel was urged into the last sixteenth when Flavigny challenged. The latter finished gamely under punishment. Holscher closed a big gap. Beau Brummel ran fairly well. The winner was entered for $500; no bid.
Scratched—75863 Prytanla, 112.
